Mmm Numb. 1507.

The Daily Courant.

Thurſday, February 13. 1707.

London, February 13.

'MEntion has often been made in the 'News Papers, of a Treaty in A-'gitation between England and 'Holland, for the better ſecuring 'the Succeſſion of the Crown of 'England to the Houſe of Hanover. A Gentleman 'having oblig'd us with a Copy of the Draught 'of that Treaty, we give it as follows.

HER Majeſty the Queen of Great Britain, and the Lords the States General of the United Provinces, having conſider'd of what Importance it is to the Quiet and Safety of their Kingdoms and Dominions, and to the Publick Tranquility, that the Succeſſion to the Crown of England, as it is at preſent ſetled by the Laws of the Kingdom, ſhould be maintain'd and ſecur'd; and having juſt Cauſe to apprehend the Troubles and Calamities that might ariſe on Account of that Succeſſion, if hereafter any Perſon or Potentate ſhould call it in Queſtion: For theſe Reaſons Her ſaid Majeſty of Great Britain, tho' in the Vigour of Her Age, and enjoying perfect Health, which God long preſerve; has out of Her uſual Prudence and Piety, thought fit to enter with the Lords the States General of the United Provinces into a particular Alliance and Confederacy; the principal Deſign and only End of which, ſhall be the Publick Peace and Tranquility, and the preventing by Meaſures taken in Time, all Events that might hereafter excite new Wars. In this View Her Britannick Majeſty has given Her full Power to N. N. to agree upon certain Articles of an Additional Treaty to the Treaties and Alliances She is already engag'd in with the Lords the States General of the United Provinces: And the Lords the States General of the United Provinces have to the ſame purpoſe commiſſion'd N. N. Who by Virtue of their full Powers have agreed upon the following Articles.

I.

The Treaties of Peace, Friendſhip, Alliance, and Confederacy, &c, between Her Britannick Majeſty and the States General of the United Provinces, are approv'd and confirm'd by the preſent Treaty, and ſhall continue in their former Force and Vigour, as if they were inſerted Word for Word.

II.

The Succeſſion to the Crown of England having been regulated by an Act of Parliament paſs'd in the 12th Year of the Reign of the late King William the third, entitul'd An Act for the Limitation of the Crown, and for the better Security of the Rights and Liberties of the Subject. And the ſame Succeſſion having now lately in the 4th Year of the Reign of Her Majeſty the Queen now reigning, been further ſettled and corroborated, by another Act made for the better Security of the Perſon and Government of her Majeſty, and of the Succeſſion to the Crown of England &c. in the Line of the moſt ſerene Houſe of Hanover, and in the Perſon of the Princeſs Sophia, and her Heirs, Succeſſors, and Deſcendants, Male and Female, born or to be born: And no Potentate having any Right to oppoſe the Laws made on that Subject by the Crown and Parliament of England; If it ſhould happen however, that any Perſon, Potentate, or State, ſhould, under any Pretext for any Cauſe whatever, pretend to call in Queſtion the Settlement which the Parliament has made of the ſaid Succeſſion, and to aſſiſt or favour thoſe who ſhould oppoſe it, either directly or indirectly, by open War, or by fomenting Seditions and Conſpiracies againſt Her or Him on whom the Succeſſion to the Crown of England ſhould devolve, conformably to the ſaid Acts: The States General of the united Provinces engage and promiſe to aſſiſt and maintain in the ſaid Succeſſion, Her or Him to whom it ſhall belong by Virtue of the ſaid Acts of Parliament; to help them to take Poſſeſſion of it, to maintain them in that Poſſeſſion if they ſhall have already taken it; and to oppoſe thoſe who ſhall attempt to diſturb them in taking Poſſeſſion, or in the actual Poſſeſſion, of the ſaid Succeſſion; obliging themſelves, for that purpoſe to furniſh them by Sea and Land with Succours and Aſſiſtance neceſſary, to maintain by Force the moſt ſerene Houſe of Hanover in the ſaid Succeſſion as it is eſtabliſh'd by the Acts of Parliament above-mention'd.

III.

After the Ratification of this Treaty, the Conditions, on which the ſaid States General of the United Provinces ſhall engage to furniſh the Succours that ſhall be judg'd neceſſary as well by Sea as by Land, ſhall be agreed and ſetled.

IV.

If Her Britannick Majeſty, or the States General of the United Provinces, ſhall be attack'd by any Power whatſoever on Account of this Agreement, they ſhall mutually aſſiſt each other with all their Forces, and be Guarantees for the Execution of the ſaid Agreement.

V.

All Kings Princes and States that may be diſpos'd to enter into this preſent Treaty, ſhall with all Expedition be invited and admitted into it; particularly His Imperial Majeſty and the Kings of Spain and Pruſſia; and Her Britannick Majeſty and the States General of the United Provinces, and each of them in particular, ſhall be at Liberty to invite ſuch Potentates as they ſhall think convenient, to enter into this Treaty and engage for its Execution.

VI.

Time having ſhewn the Omiſſion made in the Treaty ſign'd at Ryſwick in 1697 between England and France, in the Point of the Right of Her Majeſty the Queen of Great Britain now reigning to the Succeſſion of England; and that becauſe Her Majeſty's ſaid inconteſtable Right was not expreſly inſerted in that Treaty, France refus'd to acknowledge Her for Queen of Great Britain after the Death of the late K. William III of glorious Memory: 'Tis agreed between Her Majeſty the Queen of Great Britain and the Lords the States General of the United Provinces, that in Caſe a Negociation of a Treaty of Peace

Peace with France ſhall be ſet on Foot, they will not only exert their utmoſt Efforts to oblige France to acknowledge, by an Expreſs Article of the Treaty of Peace, the Succeſſion of England in the moſt ſerene Houſe of Hanover, as it is regulated and eſtabliſh'd by the Acts of Parliament; but that they will make it an Article of the Preliminaries of the Treaty of Peace; and will not enter upon any Negociation, or Debate about the Articles of the ſaid Treaty of Peace, before France has previouſly conſented to that Preliminary.

Yarmouth, February 10. Yeſterday Morning ſail'd out of this Road Her Majeſty's Ships the Haſtings and Margate with about 80 Sail of Ships under their Convoy bound for Holland. In the Afternoon the Wind coming at S. S. E. and thick rainy Weather, they were forc'd back, and the Merchant Ships got all ſafe into the Road, but about 4 a Clock in the Afternoon the Haſtings ſtruck upon a Sand call'd the Knowl off of Yarmouth New Peer, and in half an Hour ſunk: All the Officers and Men were drown'd, except 28 Men (among whom are the Purſer and Surgeon) which came aſhore in the Longboat and Pinnace. The Margate was riding about 2 Cables Length to the Southward of the Haſtings when ſhe ſunk. This Morning we ſaw the Margate riding there without her Mainmaſt, and ſhe is there yet, and alſo all the Merchant Ships are ſafe in the Road.
